NEWCASTLE DEATH LIST 21
WITH FULLY 200 INJURED;
PROPERTY LOSS $1,000,000

Wrecked Indiana Town Placed Under Military Control While Work of Rescue and Relief Is Rushed — Cyclone Cuts Path Through Heart of City.

FULLY FIVE HUNDRED HOMES ARE DESTROYED BY SUNDAY AFTERNOON STORM

By Associated Press Dispatch.

Newcastle, Ind., March 12. — With nineteen known dead, one unidentified, and the injured numbering about two hundred, Newcastle today began the work of clearing away the debris left by the cyclone which swept the southern part of the city late yesterday afternoon.

Two more were added to the list of dead today, bringing the total to twenty-one.

Mrs. Peter Day, aged 58, died from her injuries at a hospital, being the fourth of a family of six to meet death in the storm.

Three of her daughters were dead when found. A fourth daughter escaped injury by being in another part of the city. Peter Day, head of the family, was injured.

The unidentified body late today was said to be that of Ernest McLean, 11 years old. His brother, Jesse McLean, one of the seriously injured, also died today.

Fully five hundred homes, most of them small frame structures, were destroyed or damaged almost beyond repair. The estimates of the loss remained at about $1,000,000.

The first large list of supposed dead began to dwindle early today, when persons who had been listed as killed began to appear or were found to be only injured.

In the first rush of rescue work, which had not become organized until today, there were many duplications of names.

The search of the ruins continued today in a systematic way, but as the day progressed and no more bodies were found, the hope was expressed that all had been accounted for.

The city today was under police and military control. Several companies of Indiana National Guard were patrolling the damaged districts and only persons with a military pass were allowed through the lines.

The workmen in factories were organized into gangs and put to work in cleaning up the debris out of the streets, and then from the private property.

Major Watkins was advertising for brick masons and carpenters in many parts of the state. Considerable repair work to gas mains must be done before gas can be turned on again.

CHINESE TO ENTER CONFLICT

Final Rupture With Germany Formally Approved, Is Announced.

Peking, China, Saturday, March 10.

Delayed—Premier Tuan Chi-Jui, accompanied by the entire Cabinet, appeared before the House and the Senate today and stated that the Cabinet and the President had decided that China should sever diplomatic relations with Germany.

The House approved severance of relations by a vote of 431 to 87. The Senate will vote tomorrow and is expected to support the Cabinet.

London, March 12.—A Peking dispatch to Reuters says that the House of Representatives at a secret session approved the Government's diplomatic policy, including a rupture with Germany.

The Chinese Foreign Office announced on February 9 that it would sever diplomatic relations with Germany if the unrestricted submarine warfare decree was put into effect.

On March 4 the Chinese Cabinet agreed that relations should be broken but the President refused to accept the decision of the ministers and Premier Tuan Chi-Jui resigned.

Three days later, however, the Premier resumed office, after the President had agreed to give the Cabinet full power to frame the country's foreign policy, and also on condition that Parliament should vote on the question of a breach with Germany.

UNCERTAINTY ABOUT ARMS HOLDS UP AMERICAN STEAMSHIPS AND FREIGHT

The lower one depicts a lot of American automobiles, ordered by the allied countries, awaiting shipment outside the steamship piers.

The foreign freight congestion, which will not be solved until Washington settles the armed ship and convoy questions, has grown so great that it was said a few days ago 300,000 tons had accumulated.

This, of course, has been greatly increased since then. Foreign steamships take away some of the accumulation, but American ships have been held up by the uncertainty of the German-American situation.

FORMAL NOTICE OF ARMING SHIPS FOR PROTECTION OF VESSELS AND PERSONS ON BOARD, ISSUED BY U. S.

By Associated Press Dispatch.

Washington, March 12.—Formal notice that American ships traversing the German submarine zone are to carry "armed guard for the protection of the vessels and the lives of the persons on board" was sent by the State Department today to embassies and legations of all foreign governments in Washington.

Following is the text of the communication as made public by the State Department:

"In view of the announcement of the imperial German Government on January 31, 1917, that all ships, those of neutrals included, met with in certain zones of the high seas would be sunk without any precautions being taken for the safety of the persons on board, and without the exercise of visit and search, the Government of the United States has determined to place upon all merchant vessels sailing through the barred areas an armed guard for the protection of the vessels and the lives of the persons on board."

The notification, it is expected, will be sent to Germany by the Swiss Legation here. No obstacle will be placed in the way of such action.

Whether other neutral governments will admit armed ships to their ports is a question for them to decide, but it is not expected that objections will be made.

Holland is the only neutral known to have barred armed merchantmen from her harbors.

The Navy Department's position is that it will equip with arms all ships whose owners apply to it.

COUNT NEAR COPENHAGEN

GOVERNOR HIRAM JOHNSON

By Associated Press Dispatch.

Governor Hiram W. Johnson, Senator-elect, announced his resignation from the governorship here today, effective March 15.

They had arrived at the German frontier at Lindau yesterday, after a continuous trip of fifty-two hours, from the prison camp at Brandenburg.

The sailors said that they were convinced that the raider which sank their vessel was the Ritz, of Bremerhaven.

They described her as a brand new vessel of about 3,000 tons, capable of eighteen knots, equipped with one funnel, two masts, one false funnel, four torpedo tubes, seven rapid fire guns and a wheel house, which was hidden by the sides of the ship.

The funnels had a device by which the stripes could be changed at will, and the ship's doors were so constructed as to cut off all light when they were open.

Between bites of food, the Yarrowdale men told of the severe treatment to which they had been subjected in the German prison camps, where they as Americans, were apparently singled out from all others.

During their stay in Germany, they reported, they had subsisted on one allowance of soup daily, and had made their long journey to the border on one such "meal."

There was hardly one of them who, at one time or another, they declared, had not felt the fist of a German camp guard; and the squad of five soldiers that brought them to the border had exercised the privilege of abusing them up to the last possible moment.

The party includes all the Americans detained except one seaman named Buileat, of a French-Canadian family, claiming to have been born in Massachusetts, who was held at the last moment.

PROPERTY LOSS OF $50,000 IS LEFT IN THE WAKE OF GREAT WIND STORM

Village of Bookwalter Nearly Wiped From Map At 5:30 Sunday Evening When Twister Cuts Path Across Northern Fayette — More Than Half Score of Residences Wrecked and Score of Barns Destroyed or Badly Damaged.

WESLEY CHAPEL M. E. CHURCH LEVELED; DOZEN PERSONS PAINFULLY INJURED

A tornado of great violence dipped down in the northern part of Fayette county about 5:30 Sunday evening, leaving a trail of ruin in its wake, injuring more than a half score of people and inflicting property damage estimated at $50,000.

The southern part of Bookwalter was all but wiped off the map, and all farm residences and in fact every thing in the path of the tornado for a distance of many miles, suffered great damage.

A dozen residences were either entirely or partially wrecked so that it will be necessary to rebuild. The public school building, a brick structure of two rooms, was leveled to the ground in Bookwalter. Wesley Chapel, M. E. church, frame structure located on the Prairie Pike one mile east of Bookwalter, was scattered over the adjoining fields, and on the Ford Ervin farm everything was destroyed and scattered about the surrounding neighborhood. Mr. Ervin alone suffered property damage estimated at $10,000.

Came From the West. The tornado came from the west just as the shades of night were falling, and its approach was heralded by a brilliant electrical display and a peculiar roaring, shrieking noise which struck terror to all who saw the storm demon whirling down upon them.

The tornado lasted little more than one minute, and in that time its violence apparently was unlimited. Buildings were lifted bodily and dashed to pieces like a wisp of straw. Great trees were picked up by root and carried many rods. Fences disappeared as if by magic and telephone wires and poles went with the fence posts.

The twister cut a swath little more than 100 yards wide, and starting in the extreme northwestern corner of Fayette, it swept with unabated fury almost entirely across the county.

Like Chaff in a Gale. At Bookwalter the scene is almost indescribable. Not an undamaged structure was left in the track of the funnel-shaped cloud which hit the village. The swath cut through the village extended from the public school building to the Charles Coe store about 100 yards south of the school building. A half dozen or more small residences between the above mentioned structures, were leveled to the ground, or left hopelessly twisted and torn.

The real damage was done in a very few seconds. Those who lived near and watched the work of the flying, twisting, seething terror, saw objects flying in all directions as the giant funnel struck. Great timbers were hurled about like matches. Boards, household goods, and all movable objects in its path flew high in the air and were scattered about like leaves.

Store is Wrecked. Charles Coe's store building was wrecked, and most of the contents scattered. John Paul's house, connected with the Coe store, was unroofed and twisted.

A small residence occupied by Tom Brown and family was leveled and Brown sustained a great gash across his head. His wife also was injured.

The home of Mrs. Ethel Coe was torn to bits and Mrs. Coe was seriously injured by flying timbers. Three ribs were broken and she suffered

DEATH OF FRANK L. STUTSON SHOCKS ENTIRE COMMUNITY

Death Comes Suddenly to Widely Known and Beloved Head of Stutson Department Store.

WAS IN FLORIDA FOR BENEFIT OF HEALTH

For 36 Years One of City's Foremost Business Men, With Remarkably Active Career Funeral Wednesday.

There are things which seem as if they cannot be true so great is the loss and suffering they entail.

Such was the message which came from the South Sunday morning telling of the death of Frank L. Stutson, widely known merchant and man of affairs, foremost citizen, polished gentleman.

Frank Stutson dead? People were stunned. They could not believe it. Mr. Stutson meant so much to Washington, he stood as one of the pillars upon which her progress and success had been built; he was affiliated with her every interest; one of the bulwarks of the community.

But there was no alleviation from the sad message. Mrs. Stutson wired from Altamont Springs, Fla., where she had spent the past month with her husband.

Mr. Stutson's health began to fail last Fall, physicians pronouncing it indeed bereft in this death. Frank L. Stutson has been so identified with Washington's mercantile life; with her every progressive movement, whether civic, moral or educational; with her philanthropies, church and lodge interests, with whatever stood for public betterment; that the extent of his loss to this community can hardly be estimated.

It was Mr. Stutson's remarkable business acumen, his initiative, integrity and indomitable will power which built up the present Stutson department store—a splendid metropolitan establishment that ranks as one of the largest, finest and most perfectly equipped in Southern Ohio and has added greatly to Washington's business prestige. The vicissitudes through which this store has passed since its founding in 1881, tested to the fullest extent the calibre of the man who refused to be conquered by untoward disasters and rose superbly to overcome every impediment.

Appalling as would have been, under any circumstances, the death of such a man as Mr. Stutson, and freighted as it must have been with sorrow to his family and friends beyond the numbering, there is added immeasurable sadness in the thought of death occurring so far from home and in what it means to the wife facing the return trip alone.

Mrs. Stutson left Altamont Springs with all that was mortal at noon Sunday. She was accompanied as far as Jacksonville, Fla., by a cousin, Mr. Ashman, of Phillipsburg, Pa., who with an invalid wife had been at the same resort.

The youngest daughter, Mrs. Renick Boggs, accompanied by her husband, left on the afternoon train Sunday, expecting to meet her mother in Chattanooga, Tenn., and make the latter part of the trip with her. Unfortunately Mr. and Mrs. Boggs were detained in Cincinnati by a wash-out and will hardly be able to reach Chattanooga, although they will go as far as possible.

The Elks' lodge of this city wired to the Elks' lodges of Southern cities where transfers were necessary to render to Mrs. Stutson any possible assistance and there is no doubt that whatever can be will be done to make the trip less hard. They arrive in Cincinnati on the 9:15 train tonight and will reach here Tuesday morning on the 10:40 B. & O. Mrs. Stutson's sisters, Mrs. Wm. Simpson and Mrs. George Allen, of Chicago, and brother, Mr. Chas. Stimson and family of Lafayette, Ind., expect to meet them in Cincinnati and accompany them here.

Washington and Fayette County is indeed bereft in this death. Frank L. Stutson has been so identified with Washington's mercantile life; with her every progressive movement, whether civic, moral or educational; with her philanthropies, church and lodge interests, with whatever stood for public betterment; that the extent of his loss to this community can hardly be estimated.

The reciprocal affection which existed in the home was ideal and the wife and two daughters, Mrs. Louise Stutson Donnell, whose home is now in Washington, D. C., and Mrs. Janet Stutson Boggs, have in that a most beautiful memory.

But a few days ago a little son born to Mr. and Mrs. Donnell at the Stutson home, was named for his grandfather, who had written that he hoped to be home to see him in a short time.

Mr. Stutson was 66 years of age in January and had been engaged in the dry goods business, in this city since his early manhood.

Before noon Monday a telegram was received from Mrs. Stutson saying that she had left Jacksonville and was due to arrive in Cincinnati tonight.

Funeral services will be held Wednesday afternoon but no definite arrangements can be made until after arrival.

Jacksonville Elks met Mrs. Stutson and extended every possible courtesy.

Board of Trustees. He was also interested in the erection of the Y. M. C. A. and was a member of the building committee of the Stimson Annex.

The social side of Mr. Stutson was one which greatly endeared him to his friends. He was always responsive to the amenities of life and the hospitality of his home freely extended.

DR. MOSES BREEZE, GIVES ABLE ADDRESS

Dr. Moses Breeze, the able exponent of "the every member canvas" movement as inaugurated under the Synod of Ohio, delivered a splendid and stirring address at the First Presbyterian church Sunday morning.

Dr. Breeze is typical of his name in the breezy wit which is characteristic of his discourses and he held his audience in entertained attention.

Although a Welshman by birth and remaining in his native country until he was of age, he repudiated with great vigor the term hyphenated-American, as applied to those who have immigrated from the old country, claiming that they are even better Americans than those born in this country because they choose to come here of their own volition.

Dr. Breeze presented strongly the claim of the immigrant upon the community. It was the work of an instant reducing the handsome structure to kindling wood and scattering it about for hundreds of yards. Had the storm come a short time later it would have found 100 people at worship.

painful cuts and bruises. She will recover.

Two or three other small houses were lifted up, twisted around and jammed down almost upon their former foundation. Trees, shrubbery, fences and outbuildings were destroyed.

The Baptist church, a little north of the path of the storm, was badly damaged. Other residences also were damaged.

Dips into Paint Creek.

One onlooker declares that when the funnel of wind struck Paint creek west of Bookwalter, it huffed a great volume of water into the air, literally drinking the stream dry.

Woman Hurled Into Yard.

At the home of "Dutch" Yeoman the residence was badly damaged, the interior being almost torn out. Miss Edith Yeoman was carried from the house and dropped into the yard, then picked up and carried back to a point near the house. She escaped with few bruises.

The Yeoman barn was ruined, together with other buildings.

His automobile was a total wreck.

Family Injured.

The family of Alva Carter, on the Bert Ervin farm, suffered painful bruises when their home was completely destroyed. Their escape from death was miraculous. In fact fifty or more persons escaped death or serious injury in the most hair-breadth manner.

The Mary Jane Heath home was torn almost into pieces. The Wm. Stoughton residence, just east of Bookwalter, also suffered seriously.

Following the road toward Wesley Chapel, at the intersection with the Prairie pike, the tornado did little damage to the Bert Ervin premises but across the road was the handsome home of Ford Ervin. It was here that not a building was left standing.

Less a Heavy One.

Hearing the warning roar of the cyclone, and beholding the funnel shaped cloud, Mr. Ervin and family rushed to the cellar and stood with their backs against the wall. In an instant the house above them was torn clear of the foundation, lifted into the air and went to pieces in a twinkling. At the same instant Mr. Ervin's barn and all other buildings in his farm met a similar fate.

Bleeding from cuts inflicted by falling cement blocks, Mr. Ervin and family hurried from their place in the cellar and sought refuge with Mr. Bert Ervin, across the road.

One horse in the Ervin barn was killed, and others injured so that at least one of them must be killed. Mr. Ervin's automobile was reduced to a mass of twisted steel. All corn, wheat feed and in fact all personal property, such as household effects, machinery, farm implements, harness, etc., were scattered about the fields, utterly ruined.

Mr. Ervin had some insurance, but his loss will reach into the thousands of dollars. Maple Grove school house came next, but was not seriously damaged. Church in Ruins.

Just across the road was Wesley Chapel, M. E. church, the pride of the community. It was the work of an instant reducing the handsome structure to kindling wood and scattering it about for hundreds of yards. Had the storm come a short time later it would have found 100 people at worship.

New Home Ruined.

Perry Mowery's new home, within 100 yards of the church, was unroofed and twisted. His old residence was wrecked, and a large new barn twisted off the foundation, being a trifile outside of the storm's path.

Continuing eastward the tornado swept away fences, damaged timbers, and unroofed a few barns. The last damage reported was on the old Sellor farm, now owned by Forest Cline, on the Danville pike. His barn was destroyed.

Orchards in the path of the storm were entirely ruined.

Little Insurance.

Very little tornado insurance was carried by those suffering losses, and the losses sustained are, in most cases, keenly felt by those in the path of the storm.

Drives To Safety.

Alvin Pierce and family were in a rig in front of the Coe store in Bookwalter when the cyclone appeared in sight. As it bore down toward him, Pierce applied the whip to his horse and by running the animal northward escaped the fury of the twister and was uninjured. Like a knife the storm cut through the fences less than two rods behind his buggy. He believes that if he had remained in front of the store his entire family would have perished.

Watches The Tornado.

Mr. Howard Reid, brother of Hon. C. A. Reid of this city, watched the progress of the storm, standing on the veranda of his home in North Bookwalter, a quarter of a mile from the path of the cyclone.

Mr. Reid saw the cyclone as it appeared in the west and watched its rapid approach. It was sweeping along with the speed of an express train, and the funnel-shaped cloud, of midnight blackness, extended, small end downward, to the earth, sucking up everything in its way. A terrific roar accompanied the storm which increased to a shriek as the cyclone struck the village. It had wrecked the southern end of the village and was a half mile distant in the space of a few seconds.

"It was a terrifying sight," declared Mr. Reid, "one which makes a person's blood run cold."

Mr. and Mrs. Eliza Draper, residing a half mile south of Wesley Chapel, heard the roar and watched the storm as it swept by. "It was just a black cloud, reaching to the earth, and appeared to be lifting and dropping as it sped along. It was whirling about at frightful speed, and the noise it made was simply dreadful," declared Mr. Draper.

Darkness soon settled over the scene and the extent of the damage was not learned until Monday morning when the ruined homes and countryside was exposed to view.

Crowds Visit Scene.

Crowds from all over the neighborhood flocked to the scene early Monday morning, and inspected the damage wrought.

Incident Of The Storm.

At the William Coe residence, according to one report, the doors were carried away, much of the furniture going with the doors, and a set of harness from the wrecked barn 75 yards distant was carried into the house and hung suspended upon a nail in the wall.

Other Damage.

On the Creighton Ervin farm, west of Bookwalter, his large barn was partly torn down. The Frank Snodgrass barn on the Solon pike, was wrecked. A barn on the Hyer farm was almost completely demolished. Other damage is reported to the west of the Solon pike.

Following the road toward Wesley Chapel, at the intersection with the Prairie pike, the tornado did little damage to the Bert Ervin premises but across the road was the handsome home of Ford Ervin. It was here that not a building was left standing.

Apparently the tornado was the same that struck Newcastle, Indiana, Dayton and other cities.

HEAVY ELECTRICAL STORMS IN COUNTY

Saturday night and Sunday the city and county suffered a series of electrical storms accompanied by a downpour of rain.

Early Sunday morning a heavy hail storm swept over the city but the hailstones were not large enough to do material damage.

For nearly twenty-four hours the storm clouds hovered over some part of the county, and the rain was heavy in most sections.

Clean-Up Day

A clean-up day, or even a clean-up week, is as necessary to the health and happiness of our city as is the annual spring housecleaning which always looms larger than anything else before the housekeeper.

Just which day the Mayor will set aside specifically as clean-up day is not yet known, but it's as sure to come as that objectionable spring cleaning, and it is time that we begin getting ready for it.

If there is any movement which ought to bring out the co-operation of every man, woman and child it should be that of a cleaner and healthier town in which to live.

To accomplish this effectively there must be universal effort, in which civic management, the health authorities, the Welfare Association and other organizations combine, aided by the support of the press. Above all the individual householder should wage war on everything pertaining to sanitation on his or her own premises.

Already there has been launched an educational campaign for improved conditions; for a general clean-up and the planting of the home gardens.

This is in the nature of a splendid co-operative movement through which there can be developed systematic effort toward right sanitary conditions and the health of the community through personal workers.

This plan, which is now being actively promoted by the joint efforts of the Welfare Association and the Garden Club, has in it wonderful possibilities.

Through this individual work in every district it will be possible to learn just how sanitary conditions really are; just what needs are greatest in the respective neighborhoods; what vacant lots and sites are available for garden purposes and, perhaps the biggest thing of all, people from every section of the town will be brought into active working relations for Washington's betterment.

It is certainly a big undertaking but one splendidly worth while.

Cleanliness means efficiency, better homes, better schools, better humanity—could there be any movement of greater practical benefit for Washington or one in which Washington people should be more willing to take part than that of making our city clean and beautiful, not only for clean-up day, but for all the time?

The Germans in Poland

A great cry has gone up against the German Government from all corners of the world because of its military methods in Belgium and its requisitioning of the Belgian population for strenuous labor behind the German war fronts.

There is not nearly so much said about Poland, though it would seem not unlikely that the Polish situation is similar to that of the Belgians.

The Allied press is quite bitter in the denunciation of German methods in Poland, all of which must be taken with a grain of salt, as must be the protestations and denials that come from the press of Germany.

About as reliable an estimate of the situation as can be arrived at at this time comes from a gentleman resident of Warsaw now in Holland, who expresses himself through an Amsterdam newspaper.

He says in substance that the Germans have installed themselves as if they were at home; that industry in the country is dead; that factories have been closed and that machinery from many of them has been sent to Germany.

Attempts, he says, have been made to enroll Polish citizens in the German army and factories by means of fallacious promises, but with little success. The population generally, he says, "laughs in their faces."

In some places, this gentleman charges, manufacturing material has been confiscated for German industrial use and laborers have been forced in some instances to work for the German military authorities under penalty of severe punishment.

More than 100,000 men and women, he states in conclusion, have been chosen from the working classes, as in the case of Belgium, and subjected to utter slavery.

It is not improbable that this Pole has exaggerated in his bitterness, but the mere fact that he is bitter is significant.

WOULD END RAILWAY DISPUTE

Cleveland, March 12.—Settlement of the railroad eight hour day controversy, irrespective of whether the supreme court holds the Adamson law constitutional or unconstitutional, was forecast in Cleveland by action of the conference of brotherhood leaders. Announcement of the four unions' compromise plan to be threshed out at a meeting with railroad officials in New York next Thursday came simultaneously with the revelation that the brotherhood chiefs had notified President Wilson that a strike or threatened strike would not be permitted to embarrass the government in case the United States was drawn into war. It was stated that the union representatives would lay before railroad officials a compromise plan based upon the employees' fight for an eight hour day.

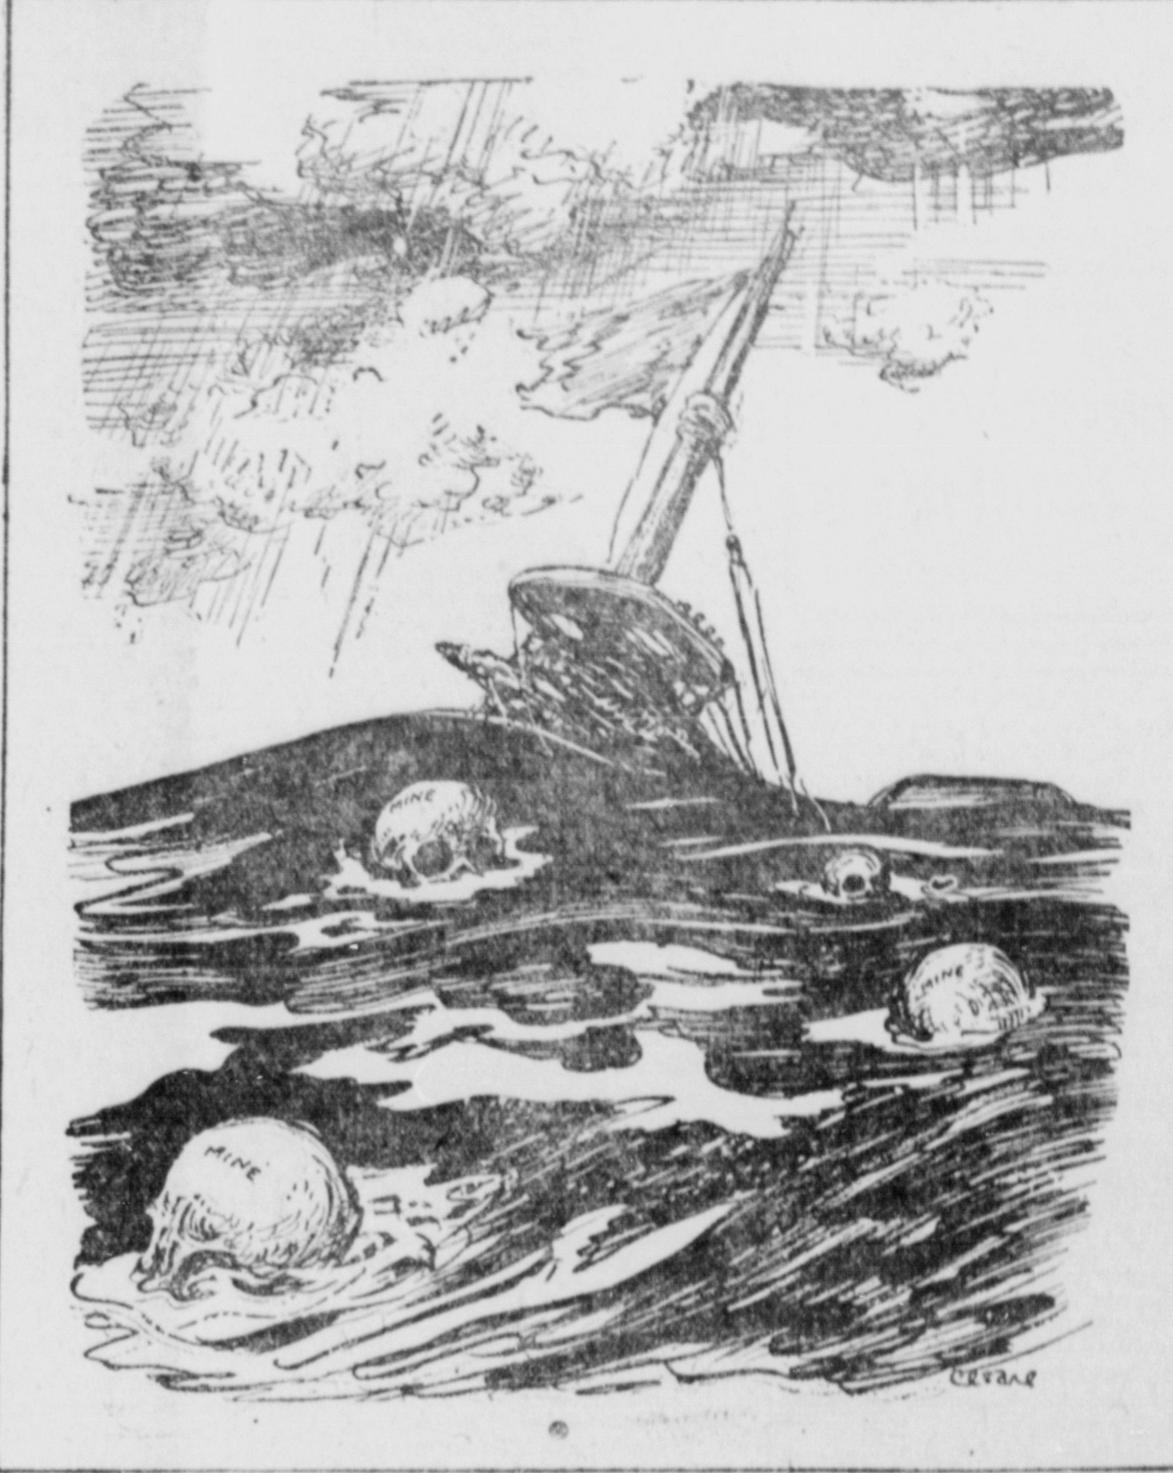

MAY FOLLOW FALL

Washington, March 12.—The American government having announced its decision to proceed with the arming of merchantmen intending to go to Europe in defense of Germany's ruthless submarine campaign, no further details on the situation were given out. Many interesting questions relating to the new policy remained unanswered. The only statement authorized was that nothing will be done by the government not in strict accord with international law.

Because of reports of bad food conditions in Germany, the fall of Bagdad to the entente allies and other news looked upon as unfavorable to the central powers, some officials considered further peace suggestions from Germany as among the possibilities.

NEW MERCANTILE FIRM LAUNCHED

Columbus, O., March 12.—The Chillicothe Co-Operative Mercantile Company of Chillicothe was incorporated for $10,000 with the Secretary of State here today. The principal incorporators were Henry Imhoff and J. L. Wagner.

The present Blackfriars bridge is a comparatively modern structure, which replaced the bridge of Robert Mylne after the latter had endured, with much alteration and repair, it is true, for nearly hundred years. Mylne's design, it will be recalled by those familiar with their Boswell, was attacked by Johnson with that arrogance and, let me sadly add, ignorance which he was too wont to display in subjects of which he knew very little. Johnson, with a weight of words which might have tested any bridge, declared that no structure with elliptical arches could bear heavy weights. Mylne's bridge has gone, but the elliptical form of arch remains, and is very beautiful. It is and adequate for a weight of traffic of which Johnson never dreamed.—Westminster Gazette.

Immediately the gasoline ignited and his right hand was blistered, left hand slightly burned, and his right ankle blistered. His clothing caught fire and he plunged into a tank of water nearby. His heavy clothing prevented serious burns about the body.

Queer Use For Cordite.

Some years ago Lord Haldane started the use of cordite when replying to a remark made by another member as to the danger attached to the use of cordite by saying that he himself possessed a walking stick made of cordite which he sometimes brought down to the house and left in the cloakroom. An unscrupulous thief stole over the faces of the members present, but in a scientific and highly technical speech his lordship explained that cordite was a perfectly innocent substance until brought into contact with dangerous allies and without certain ingredients necessary to convert it into an explosive it might be handled with impunity. At the same time it was noticed that Lord Haldane's stick was given a wide berth when it was seen in the cloakroom.

FREEDOM FOR CONVICTED MAN

(By American Press)

Buffalo, March 12.—Preliminary work on the reopening of the Phelps-Wolcott murder case was completed today. What is expected to prove new and startling testimony is to be presented to the Orleans county grand jury, sitting in special term, two weeks from today.

For the murder of Charles Phelps, wealthy farmer, and his housekeeper, Margaret Wolcott, Charles Stielow, convicted, is now serving a life term. Nelson Green, half-brother, is also serving a life term as accomplice.

Erwin King, peddler, whose confession last August acted as a stay of execution for Stielow, though the confession was later repudiated, was before Governor Whitman for two hours a few days ago, and as a result the governor designated a special attorney to hear testimony.

Stielow workers from all parts of the state would not be surprised if King made another confession. It is reported that at the special jury session operatives for a Buffalo detective agency will have interesting disclosures to make. One of these operatives exchanged places with a jail attendant when King was confined in Little Valley, N. Y., on a perjury charge, growing from his confession and repudiation. Coming in contact with King every day the detective came in possession of facts, he asserted.

One of Shortest in Recent Years—Results of the Ses-

By Associated Press Dispatch.

Columbus, O., March 12.—Politicians demanding patronage will have their inning now that the legislature is practically through its work.

Since Governor James M. Cox took office the first of the year he has devoted almost his entire time to the legislative program, putting off the politicians until the assembly had completed its work. Only a few important positions at the disposal of the governor have been handed out the appointment of Dr. A. F. Shepherd on the Board of Administration, Judge Oliver H. Hughes on the State Utilities Commission and Philip Berg as superintendent of Banks and Banking being the most important appointments made thus far.

The Governor has the appointment to make of another member of the state board of administration to succeed C. C. Philbrick, resigned; two members of the state tax commission and a secretary of this commission; appointment of a new member and secretary of the State Industrial Commission; a new member and secretary of the state utilities commission; state highway engineer, state superintendent of public instruction, state oil inspector, state insurance commissioner, two members and secretary of the state liquor licensing board, chief of the building and loan inspection department, state fire marshal and many heads of sub departments and inspectors.

In addition to these positions already established where the present incumbents' terms already have expired or are subject to removal, many new commissions and positions have been created by the present session of the legislature. These positions will be filled for the most part by the governor.

Among the departments to be reorganized as a result of legislation just enacted are: State Board of Health, abolishing the present board of eight members and substituting therefor a health council of four members who will select a health commissioner to perform all administrative duties. The salary of this position was not fixed in the law enacted but it is the plan to make the salary large enough to attract and hold the present highway commissioner.

The old board of pardons of four members is abolished and in its place will be a board of clemency of two members who will be required to live in Columbus and give their entire time to the work of passing upon all pardons and matters of clemency in the state's penal institutions. This new board will relieve the board of administration of the work of passing upon paroles. Under a law just enacted by the general assembly, the new clemency board will be enabled to parole convicts serving second and third terms as well as first terms. The old board of pardons met once a month and received $990 a year each. Members of the clemency board will receive $3,000 a year each. It is the plan of the governor to obtain experts on criminology and men in sympathy with prison reform ideas for this board.

The state banking department also is to be reorganized taking the so-called "blue sky" department which controls the sale of securities in the state, out of the banking department and placing this department as well as the chattel loan department under a commissioner of securities, who is to be appointed for a three-year term at $4,000 a year.

There was created by the legislature a state board of education to be composed of seven members, one of whom shall be the superintendent of public instruction. This was done merely to comply with the requirements of the federal act granting to states federal aid for industrial and vocational training. The state is expected to put up approximately $100,000 which is to be matched with a like sum by the federal government, the total to be apportioned among the universities and colleges for industrial and domestic science training. This will be a non-salaried board and will have charge of the work of distributing the fund.

BETTER PAY FOR GUARDS IN OHIO

By American Press

London, March 12—General

Frederick Maude, in command of the entente forces in Mesopotamia, announced the occupation by the British of the city of Bagdad, the chief Turkish city in Mesopotamia.

General Frederick Stanley Maude, in command of the entente forces in Mesopotamia, telegraphed this welcome news for the British. His story of the operations carried events only up to Saturday morning when the British, after effecting a surprise crossing of the Diala and bridging the Tigris, had driven the Turks back to within three miles of Bagdad. It is evident, however, that the Turks have been unable to offer any serious resistance since the fall of Kut-el-Amara.

FOLLOW PROGRAM OF GOVERNOR

By American Press

Columbus, March 12.—At the two month session of the present legislature every recommendation of the governor, as set forth in his message of Jan. 9, was enacted into law. In addition other measures of importance were placed on the statute books. In a majority of instances the so-called administration bills were passed without resort to party lines. Measures recommended in the Co. message which have passed both houses provide:

Financial relief for cities; absences voting; rotating of names on primary ballots; ousting liability companies (initiated); creation of secretary of agriculture; state bureau of markets; separation of state and national ballot; saloon licensing in May, instead of November, after this year; hospital for crippled and deformed children; death awards by industrial commission from $3,750 to $5,000; revamping Cass highway law; new tax assessing law.

Other important measure approved by the senate not included in message recommendations provide: State board of clemency; presidential suffrage for women; advisory council for highway commissioner; health commissioner, with advisory council, dispensing with health board; state board of education; colliseum for state fair grounds; erection of governor's mansion; separate blue sky department; commission to study state health insurance; protection of quality; limiting the hours Ohio women can work during a week.

One of the bills which has passed the senate and probably will be concurred in by the house on adjournment day, March 20, amends the school code.

The new taxation law was drafted by a nonpartisan committee of the two houses. Its most novel feature is that it makes each property owner his own tax assessor.

When the legislators return on March 20 they will finish the business of the session. It will require at least three days to dispose of unfinished business.

GRANDMOTHER KNEW

There Was Nothing So Good for Congestion and Colds, as Mustard

But the old-fashioned mustard-plaster burned and blistered while it acted. You can now get the relief and help that mustard plasters gave, without the plaster and without the blister.

Musterole does it. It is a clean white ointment, made with oil of mustard. It is scientifically prepared so that it works wonders, and yet does not blister the tenderest skin.

Just massage Musterole in with the finger tips gently. See how quickly it brings relief—how speedily the pain disappears.

Use Musterole for sore throat, bronchitis, tonsilitis, croup, stiff neck, asthma, neuralgia, headache, congestion, pleurisy, rheumatism, lumbago, pains and aches of back or joints, sprains, sore muscles, bruises, chills, frosted feet, colds of the chest. It often prevents pneumonia.

INDIANA SWEPT BY TORNADO

By American Press

New Castle, Ind., March 12.—A score killed, several missing, more than 100 persons injured, some fatal, and property damaged to the extent of $1,000,000 was the toll of a tornado which struck New Castle Sunday afternoon.

The storm swept a path through the city about two blocks wide, extending from Sixth street to Twenty-fifth street. About 100 houses were leveled and more than 300 damaged.

Identified dead: Everett Dunlap, Bernice Davis, Orris Davis, James Neilia, Gray Davis, Mrs. John Davis, Master Davis, Mrs. Archie Fletcher, Miss Haler, young daughter of John Haler, Master Razer, Mrs. Archie Williamson, Miss Opal Williamson, Mr. Newton, Bernice Day, June Day, Mrs. Mary E. Williams, Mrs. Vera Higgins, Ernest Waterman. Two men and one boy are unidentified.

Newcastle has a population of 15,000 and is known as the "City of Roses" because of the large green houses located here. It is also the home of the Maxwell automobile factory and has other large manufacturing plants. All the hospitals in the city are crowded with the injured.

The storm came from the west, striking the city in the northwestern section and traveled in a southeastern direction, missing the business section of the town. In South Sixth street and through to Lincoln avenue, one of the main residence streets of the city, nearly every house was wrecked. Continuing, the storm swept A avenue and on into the factory district, where scores of homes were demolished. Practically every block south of Broad street was damaged. Several men were at work in the Indiana rolling mill, which was destroyed, but no one was hurt.

Word has been dispatched to Governor Goodrich to send troops to protect the wrecked homes from looters and to police the city. The destruction of the interurban power house threw the city in darkness.

COMPROMISE ON PAPER PRICES OF SHORT STANDING

Washington, March 12.—News print paper price arbitration, undertaken by the federal trade commission, will succeed, in the opinion of the commission, only if publishers practice the closest economies in the use of paper.

Three Killed at Cincinnati.

Cincinnati, March 12.—Three persons are known to have lost their lives, four others are probably fatally injured, and a score or more less seriously hurt, as the result of a tornado which wrecked about thirty houses in the residential district of Hyde Park, in the eastern section of this city, last night. The known dead are: Matthew McCarthy, Jr., aged three years; Omer Glenn, eighty-one; Mr. Nelson, forty-five.

Wayne County Swept.

Richmond, Ind., March 12.—Two children were killed and a man was probably fatally injured in a tornado which hit Wayne county. The storm spent its force just south of Hagerstown, this county, where two children of Ernest Graves were killed. The children were killed when a brick house was demolished. Ora Smith, a farmer of that neighborhood, was picked up by the wind, carried 100 feet and dropped into a pond. His back was broken and he probably will die.

Dayton Also Hit.

Dayton, O., March 12.—A tornado swooped down upon Dayton Sunday afternoon for about sixty seconds, unroofed houses, created a panic in a moving picture theater which it struck, did $10,000 damage and, then ascending, swept on. Trotwood and Brookville in the path of the tornado, suffered heavily.

UNION MEN MEET

Washington, March 12.—Probably the greatest labor union meeting ever held in the United States started here today, representatives of almost all the workingmen's organizations of the country gathering to discuss the international crisis at the call of Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor.

That the congress would be a patriotic meeting was rendered probable by Mr. Gompers' official status as a member of the advisory committee of the council of national defense.

The council today will decide labor's stand both in the event of war and in case other measures than war are taken for the defense of the country and for proper American standing in international relations.

Although President Gompers has a strong following in his determination to support adequate preparedness, there is a pronounced pacifist labor element which is expected to oppose bitterly every move toward increase of the army and navy and any measure which the pacifists believe renders war more likely.

WITH POOR FARM THIS MAN WOULD FEED ALL NEEDY

By Associated Press Dispatch

Chicago, March 12.—How far a publicly owned and operated farm might go toward aiding the poor to combat increased living costs was hinted at by John Welch, superintendent of the 350 acres established which houses Cook county's derelicts.

"If we had 500 acres more we could feed the poor of Chicago—all of them" said Mr. Welch, and he added: "May be some time the poor farm will do so."

It is a case of "over the hill to the poor house" at Oak Forest, near Blue Island and southwest of the Chicago city limits. But there the likeness to the place described in the old poem almost ceases. New buildings, clean, modern and comfortable, face broad acres of unusual fertility—acres which go to make up one of the finest and most scientifically managed farms in Illinois.

Imported poultry houses shelter half a 1,000 chickens and 200 ducks, the latter of the quackless breed esteemed by fanciers. Nearly a thousand hogs are fattening for the slaughter house on the premises. There are acres and acres of onions, tomatoes, corn, potatoes and peas and the largest grape arbor in the state. And to take care of all this are 4,000 inmates of the infirmary, of whom 1,000 volunteer for the tasks.

For none of the beaten and heart-broken old men and women who come to the poor farm is compelled to work. But most of those able to undertake a task are willing to "do their bit" and after an experience or two in the fields or shops they usually find if weather or other compelling force prevents them from finding relief from memory burdens in the accomplishment of the moment.

Supt. Welch says that winter is indeed a season of discontent for hundreds of his charges. Spring, however, is a time for anticipation and impatient waiting for the word to start the planting.

"They are all waiting for spring," said Supt. Welch a few days ago. Spring means more here than anywhere else."

Miss Sheely said that she left New York two years ago for Servia with the Mabel Grouitch relief unit and was at Nish when the town was captured by the Bulgarian troops. After the fighting the soldiers went around the streets burning up debris. In one partly demolished house they found a boy two years old clasped in his dead mother's arms. "Bogol" was the only answer to the soldiers when they asked his name. "Bogol" later was found wandering about the streets by a surgeon in the Bulgarian army, who took him to the Servian relief unit.

When she arrived at the Servian headquarters in Corfu Miss Sheely was allowed to adopt the boy, and papers were made out in the name of Bogoljub Chaptchanine, the last being the name of the province of Servia which he was born.

"Bogol" as he was called by the passengers on the Finland, now speaks English well.
